I'd like to introduce two new pupil librarians who are joining the pupil librarians and will be available every lunchtime to help you.

They are: Sydney Walker 7L
and Sara Mohammed 7J

World Book Day 2016 was very successful with many pupils taking part in competitions, quizzes and generally having fun. Congratulations to all the prize winners and look out for future events.

Don't forget - every day is book day in the library!

Literacy in the Limelight week is 20th June - 24th June, focussing on speaking and listening. More information on activities and events to follow. Mrs Thatcher & Miss Dobie.

Dork Diaries - Rachel Renee Russell

The Dork Diaries are really good books, perfect for anyone who doesn't want to read a lot at one time. They have lots of pictures, good stories and are very easy to read. The books are really funny and I would recommend them to everyone! I give them:

Maisie Cunningham 7M

The Fault in our Stars - John Green

The Fault in our Stars is a truly touching book that leaves you wanting more with every page you read. It is the story of two people, Hazel-Grace and Augustus (Gus) who fall in love after meeting at a cancer support centre. As their love blossoms they try to make the most of the time they have left.

Julia Tos 9P

New Book

After an unfortunate incident with a lollipop lady (it's a long story) Ben Fletcher narrowly avoids the Young Offenders Unit. He is ordered to give something back to the community by taking up a hobby. Of course Ben does what most teenage boys would do: he takes up knitting. If he can just keep it a secret from his mates and avoid eternal humiliation.

Author Profile

- Name: Robert Muchamore.
- Born in London on 26th December 1972.
- Author of the Cherub series, Henderson's Boys and Rock Wars.
- Started writing because his 12 year old nephew told him he couldn't find any books he wanted to read.

Favourite things: triangles, potatoes and salmon.
